Aldermen set special meeting

City asked for assistance to keep craft outlet open

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The director of the Senior Aides Program which oversees the Forget-Me-Not Shop in Waveland is trying to develop some way to keep the store open.

The Waveland Board of Aldermen plans to meet Thursday night to consider a move to maintain the shop on US-90 so it may continue to be an outlet for hand crafted goods produced by handicapped and senior citizens.

Frances Adkins, the program director, has appeared at several recent aldermen meetings, including one Wednesday night, requesting the city assume some sort of increased financial or managerial responsibility for the shop.

She explained Friday that Senior Aides is funded through the National Council of Senior Citizens by the U.S. Department of Labor and operated through the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District in Gulfport to help provide employment for people 55 years in age and older.

Clerks paid by Senior Aides have staffed five outlets along the Mississippi Gulf Coast including the Waveland shop and Toll House Gifts at the US-90 bridge in Henderson Point, Adkins said.

But since the store program has become so successful and is now making a profit, the federal government has "mandated" Senior Aides to get out of that facet of its operations and place the stores under the control of the private sector by Jan. 31, the director reported.

Biloxi and Pascagoula's recreation departments have assumed responsibility for Senior Aides outlets in those cities just as they have for other senior citizen programs, she explained.

A group of store consignors and patrons recently gathered at Pass Christian City Hall and agreed to form a non-profit corporation to operate the Toll House and Forget-Me-Not, she said.

However, extra funding to at least pay one clerk is needed for the corporation to assume responsibility for the Waveland outlet, Adkins reported.

This is necessary because the Waveland shop makes a monthly profit of $700 to $1,000 compared to the Toll House which averages $43,000 profit each month, she said.

Mayor John Longo told Adkins at the Wednesday meeting he did not know if the city could come up with the approximate $5,000 needed annually to hire one person for Forget-Me-Not since Waveland is now in the middle of its fiscal year.

Longo also said he is not anxious for the city to assume the bookkeeping responsibility for numerous relatively small purchase amounts.

He is also skeptical of the city supporting the shop if it is operated by the proposed non-profit corporation because all except one of the incorporators are from Harrison County.

Lucien Gex, city attorney, advised the aldermen that Waveland can only contribute to certain non-profit organizations such as Boy and Girl Scouts.

Adkins said the government requires that consigned merchandise be returned to the craftsman in a smooth transition from Senior Aides to the control of another entity is not possible.

Theresa James, Hancock County Retired Senior Volunteer Program director endorsed the Forget-Me-Not as a needed local facility and suggested that other federal funds might be available for its support.

She said the shop needs at least one full time employee because volunteer workers, which RSVP provides, cannot

Fishermen to object to regulations

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The president and a member of the Gulf Fishermen's Association say they plan to voice their objections to several proposed sports fishing regulations which will be the subject of a Thursday public hearing in Bay St. Louis.

The hearing conducted by the State Bureau of Marine Resources of Long Beach will begin at 7 p.m. at the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis and is one of four slated along the Gulf Coast.

John Erskine, the group president, and Robert Metz, a member, both of Hancock County, said Friday that they will object to most of the regulations and at a Wednesday meeting of the association will ask the organization to officially support their stand.

They said the State Bureau of Marine Resources in Long Beach formulated the proposed regulations for the Legislature in the best interest of seafood processors and not considering the needs of local fishermen.

"We're about to go out of business because the needs of the fishermen are not being met," Metz stated.

He said one proposal he feels is excessive would raise the cost of a gill net license from $7.50 to about $100.

Another would prohibit the commercial fishing of redfish and speckled trout by designating these as sports fish only, Metz reported.

Metz said the state is imposing these regulations without proper marine studies being made first.

"We'd like to see non-residents pay a higher fee for commercial fishing licenses and require that these be bought in January for that year," he stated.

Metz feels stiffer penalties for fishing violations are also needed.

He complained that state laws need to address oyster dredging methods because many non-Americans fishing in local waters are utilizing techniques which are destroying the base of shell beds.

Metz defined non-Americans as Cubans, Vietnamese and Salvadorans who are not legal American citizens and emphasized he does not object to naturalized American citizens who are fishermen.

He said Thomas Meyers, National Marine Fisheries regional enforcement supervisor in New Orleans, reported it is illegal for the non-Americans to fish in United States waters, but when he attempted to enforce the law "was called on the carpet" by his superiors.

Erskine reported that these foreigners are illegally obtaining "documented vessels," somehow registering them with the state and obtaining local commercial fishing licenses.

Morse to leave Trinity for study in Zurich

By NAN PATTON EHRRBRIGHT

The Rev. H. McDonald Morse is resigning as rector of Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian effective Feb. 28.

Dr. Morse has been at Trinity since 1974.

He was formally installed on Oct. 27, the same day that Trinity celebrated the 125th anniversary of its founding.

On March 22 Dr. Morse will leave for Zurich, Switzerland to study at the C.G. Jung Institute.

"His studies, he said, will focus on the anatomy of the soul."

He will be at the institute at least four months, and perhaps four years.

His plans, he said, are "open" at this point.

Dr. Morse was born in Jackson and graduated from high school there. He received his bachelor's degree from Mississippi State University in Starkville and his master's of divinity from Philadelphia Divinity School in Pennsylvania.

His doctor of ministry degree was earned at McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago. Beginning in 1965 Dr. Morse spent 2 1/2 years in the Dominican Republic, where he was in charge of two churches and two schools.

Prior to coming to Pass Christian, he served at St. Peter's Church in Oxford, Miss.

He and his wife Mary Christian (Mollie) have four children: Walter, David, Mary Margaret and Cynthia.

Trinity Parish was organized in 1849. On March 3, 1850 the first service was held in a newly-erected, not-yet-completed church building.

For many years, Dr. Morse said, Trinity was the only Protestant church between New Orleans and Mobile, and even today the church serves many persons of other denominations.

A history of Trinity published in 1960 notes that the denominational designation "Episcopal" was not included in the original naming of the church, the word is not found in early records and only occasionally has it been added since.

According to Dr. Morse, Trinity currently has some 240 communicants.

The original church, rectory, parish house and education building were all totally destroyed during Hurricane

City officials say:

Laws may require Bay Amtrak stop

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Bay St. Louis city officials are hoping state laws will require the scheduled Amtrak commuter train to stop in Bay St. Louis.

The commuter train, planned to begin serving the Mississippi Gulf Coast in conjunction with the New Orleans World's Fair, has been named the Gulf Coast Ltd. and will cross the county daily along the Seaboard System Railroad to transport fair visitors.

Amtrak officials originally announced that the train, which will begin operating on April 29, would stop in Hancock County only in Bay St. Louis and now they say in this county it will only stop in Waveland.

Sheldon Seuzeneau, a Bay city councilman, noted Thursday just before a special council meeting called to consider bids for the 1983 Housing Rehabilitation Project that state law requires railroad passenger trains to stop in all county seats where a depot is located.

Bay St. Louis is the county seat. Although the Bay St. Louis depot was closed to the public by the former Louisville and Nashville Railroad several years ago, state law also requires official State Public Service Commission consent to discontinue the operations of such a facility, he reported.

Edward Favre, Bay St. Louis city clerk, said Thursday he had contacted the commission office in Jackson which is checking meeting minutes to determine if the state group approved the closing.

An Amtrak official said recently that Bay St. Louis officials offered to contribute $50,000 to renovate the old depot for Amtrak passengers boarding here.

Mayor John Longo of Waveland said at a City Board of Aldermen meeting

Wednesday night that the city will provide a depot facility, but not at the cost of $50,000 as Mayor Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis reported in the Thursday issue of 'The Sea Coast Echo.'

Longo explained that at Elwood Bourgeois Memorial Park, just east of the intersection of Waveland and Central Avenues, the city will build a passenger boarding platform with 'an old-fashioned shed' cover, a boardwalk to an asphalt-paved parking lot and remodel a park building as a concession stand.

The mayor said he was informed the passenger train is scheduled to operate until Nov. 11, but that a group of private investors may support the continuance of the service as a commuter train for Gulf Coast residents who work in New Orleans.

Bay Mayor Bennett said Saturday morning that state law also requires that the State Public Service Commission, not city governments, regulate the speed of trains.

Attempts are currently being made to raise the speed limit, now set at 30 miles per hour according to Bennett, for trains traveling along the Gulf Coast Ltd. route.

Bennett said although the Bay city council agreed in November to take the necessary steps to raise the speed limit in Bay St. Louis, the intent to do so was never advertised and the speed limit has not been changed.

Bennett also announced Saturday he has been approached by a group of private investors who are interested in providing bus service between the Bay area and New Orleans for the period of the World's Fair.

The group has not yet submitted a concrete proposal, he said, but estimates that ticket prices would be 30 to 35 percent less than those for the Amtrak train.

News Brief

CONCERNED CITIZENS

Hancock County Concerned Citizens organization will meet at 6 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 26 at St. Rose de Lima cafeteria, 301 N. Main St., Bay St. Louis.

The meeting, open to the public, will feature candidates in the Special Runoff Election Saturday, Jan. 28, for state representative.

Arrests net cache of left shoes

Two men arrested in Kiln robbery

By NAN PATTON EHRRBRIGHT

Two men have been arrested and charged by Hancock County Sheriff's Department officials in connection with the Dec. 22 armed robbery of the Majik Market in Kiln.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a third subject, not yet apprehended, according to Sheriff's Department Investigator Alvin Ladner. Mark Kendall Cuevas, 22, of Rt. 3, Box 338, Pass Christian, was arrested Thursday evening in Waveland, Ladner said.

Alan Carter, 31, of 417 Wainwright St., Waveland, was arrested Friday morning.

Cuevas and Carter face additional charges of two counts of burglary of a dwelling in Diamondhead on Jan. 18, Ladner reported.

They also face one count of grand larceny for theft of an outboard motor at Diamondhead on Jan. 18.

Joseph (Jody) Curet, 23, of Lakeshore was also arrested Friday morning in connection with one of the burglaries in Diamondhead.

As part of the evidence against the men, the sheriff's office has confiscated several large green trash bags of sportswear, including, Ladner said, about 50 running shoes—all for the left foot.

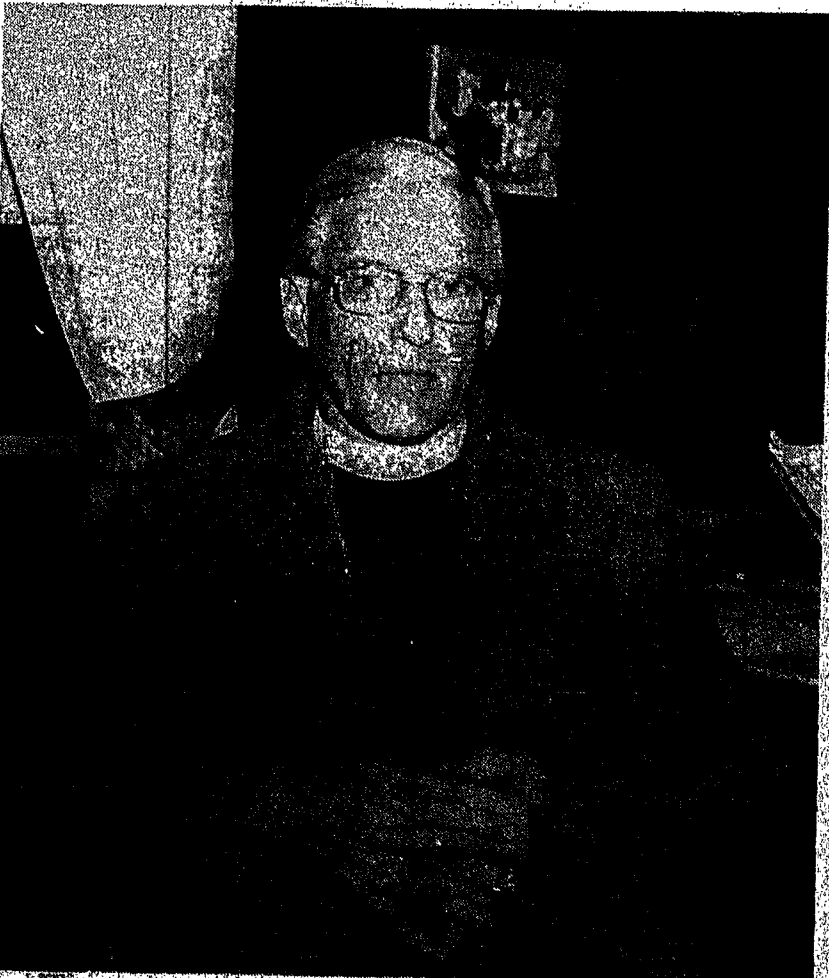

"There isn't a matched pair among them!" Ladner said.

He said additional charges of grand larceny and armed robbery will probably be filed against Cuevas, Carter and the third person wanted for the Kiln robbery.

Cuevas and Carter are being held in Hancock County jail under $30,000 bond each.

Curet is being held under a $5,000 bond.

Officials participating in the arrests were Ladner, Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay, and Hancock County Deputy Sheriffs Glen Strong and David Garcia.

be expected to rigidly work the same hours all year.

James explained her volunteers must be free to take vacations and other activities since they are all retired citizens.

She suggested the Hancock United Way which helps support RSVP and the County Senior Citizens Program as a possible funding source.

Longo noted that many Hancock seniors utilize the store to sell their hand crafted items and suggested the aldermen recess until Thursday in case Adkins finds a funding or management alternative.

He also speculated, if the city assumes at least managerial responsibility for the shop, that audits of it probably would not cost more than $1,000 annually.

Adkins said she expects profits from both stores to increase dramatically when the 1984 Louisiana World Exposition in New Orleans opens later this year.

The director admitted Wednesday that she is reluctant to relinquish such a successful program, but stated, "I'm so grateful to be able to originate something I feel is of value to continue."

"Everyone I've talked with is interested in continuing the store operation," she said.

"I feel like the Toll House could afford its own full-time people, but with the other shop the profits are not enough unless someone comes up with $5,000," Adkins stated.

Adkins reported the proposed non-profit corporation plans to support its stores by requiring a $10 annual sign-up fee and increasing the merchandise markup from 10 to 20 percent. She says the outlet operation is one of 11 programs Senior Aides is involved in, including a senior citizen job registry in which they are trained and/or placed in jobs with non-profit organizations.

J. D. RUTHERFORD JR.

Rutherford to address Chamber meet

John D. (Big John) Rutherford, Hancock Circuit clerk, will be guest speaker at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition Coffee Thursday.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 a.m. at the Waveland Resort Inn, US-90 in Waveland, and is sponsored by Security Savings and Loan Association of Bay St. Louis.

Rutherford, a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis, is a member of the American Legion, holds a 40-year pin and life membership in Post 139, and has held all offices on the post level.

He has presented Bay Senior High School graduates with the American Legion School Awards for 33 consecutive years, and has presented Christ Episcopal with the awards since the school's inception.

In 1975, Rutherford received the American Legion Distinguished Service Award, having been selected from among 30,000 members for the honor.

Through the American Legion and with the assistance of Oschner Foundation in New Orleans, he and Dr. Jesse Sewell organized the blood bank in Bay St. Louis in 1951.

He has been president of the blood bank for the past 28 years. During that time the blood bank has distributed 12,000 units of blood.

In recognition for his contribution to the blood bank program, in 1976 he was awarded the American Red Cross Distinguished Service Award.

Active in the scouting program for the past 38 years, Rutherford received the "Silver Beaver" award, scouting's highest award, for his contributions to the Boy Scout program in 1975.

Rutherford also holds memberships in the Masonic Lodge, the March of Dimes, the State Athletic Commission, Bay St. Louis Booster Club, St. Stanislaus Sidelines Club, SJA Carnival Association and the Gulf Coast Employment and Training Council.

He serves on the executive committees of the Area-wide Model Project for Senior Citizens of Hancock, Harrison and Jackson Counties and the Committee to Prevent Drug Abuse.

In 1980 Rutherford was selected King Neptune by the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, a title awarded an outstanding citizen of the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

That same year he was also chosen the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's annual Outstanding Citizen.

In 1981 he served as King Triton VII carnival association in Hancock County.

From 1972 to 1980 Rutherford served as Hancock County's Chancery clerk, and was recently elected to serve as the county's Circuit clerk.

Camille in August, 1969.

Two Sundays after the devastating storm, 150 persons gathered on the church grounds to celebrate Holy Eucharist before an altar, on which stood the Calvary Cross of Old Trinity—damaged, bent, but salvaged. Ground was broken for a new building in October, 1970 and the new Trinity was consecrated in November, 1971.

"I am leaving Trinity with mixed feelings," Dr. Morse said.

"I have a feeling of loss over the many friendships that I've had here, but I also have a feeling of satisfaction with a great many things that have been accomplished."

One of those things, Dr. Morse reported, is a 150-apartment retirement home which he hopes will come to fruition shortly.

Dr. Morse said the idea for the home was initiated four or five years ago by Lloyd and Evelyn Griffith of Bay St. Louis.

Plans for the home have now reached the contract stage, and Dr. Morse hopes the contract can be initiated before he leaves.

"I am pleased with the vitality and increased commitment that I see at Trinity," Morse said.

"My doctoral thesis was entitled 'Developing Ownership in a Local Congregation.' I see evidence of that growing ownership among the members of this congregation."

The process of selecting his successor will begin sometime next month, Dr. Morse said.

Joe Pilet, recording secretary for the St. Monica Guild and church publicist, refers to Dr. Morse as "the most appreciated, most efficient and best loved rector Trinity has ever had."

Senior Warden Steve McNair said, "Dr. Morse has been an effective leader, rector and compassionate friend in the church for the past ten years."

Another parishioner said, "We'll never come close to having another pastoral counselor like Father Morse."

HEART'S STATE CHAIR—

Alben N. Hopkins of Gulfport was recently named campaign chairman of the Mississippi American Heart Association's 1984 fund raising campaign. Hopkins will coordinate thousands of volunteers statewide who will seek contributions and distribute information on how the Heart Association spends its money.

He will be working with Hancock County Volunteers, under the direction of Charles Johnson Jr., to raise this year's local goal of $7,500, contributing to a state goal of $925,000. Hopkins is a graduate of the University of Mississippi School of Law where he served as chairman of the Honor Council and president of his graduating class. He is currently the senior partner in the firm of Hopkins, Logan, Vaughn and Anderson in Gulfport. A community leader and longtime heart association volunteer, Hopkins has served as District IX Heart Fund chairman, chairman of the Planned Giving Committee and is a member of the board of directors.

Expert urges precautions against poultry flu

Poultry producers in the state are being urged to protect their flocks against potential outbreaks of the deadly avian influenza virus.

The precautions are necessary even though the present disease outbreak is restricted to Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Virginia, said Dr. Bo Haynes, a poultry specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Avian influenza has infected 222 poultry farms in the three states, causing about 6,000 square miles of area to be quarantined.

Following quarantine, the farms have to be depopulated of birds, thoroughly cleaned, sanitized and remain birdfree for at least 30 days.

The value of the bird losses alone in the three states, is about $17 million, Haynes said. "Our poultry producers need to understand the disease and be aware of the potential disaster if the disease should spread to Mississippi," Haynes said.

Haynes said as long as infected flocks exist anywhere in the United States there is a real potential for the disease to be transported to Mississippi until the quarantine is lifted in the northeastern states, Mississippi poultry farmers should follow strict disease control practices.

Some poultry farms in Pennsylvania have been devastated by the influenza virus.

While the disease affects poultry much the same way as the human flu virus affects humans, the poultry flu virus is host specific and is not contagious to humans or other animals, Haynes said.

Haynes said there is no known cure for the disease which has affected almost nine million birds in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Virginia.

Although several incidences of the mild form of avian flu have occurred in U.S. poultry flocks in recent years, the virus stayed in the mild form and soon disappeared rather than mutating into the more deadly form that is presently occurring in the northeast.

"Death losses from the mild strain of the disease normally range from five to ten percent," Haynes said. "This most recent outbreak of the much more deadly strain can claim up to 100 percent mortality in young flocks."

Haynes said the disease first appeared last spring in the mild form and the virus mutated during the summer into the more serious strain.

Scientists know that wild ducks are carriers of avian flu. Many think the present outbreak in Pennsylvania started as a result of children on a poultry farm playing around a pond frequented by wild ducks and transporting the disease in duck droppings to the poultry houses on their shoes.

Symptoms of avian flu are coughing, sneezing and excessive swelling of the head and face of poultry, Haynes said.

Because of the potential threat of the disease, poultry officials and farmers are intensifying efforts to reduce chances of the disease spreading to Mississippi as well as minimizing the spread of other poultry diseases.

Sanitation, isolation procedures, proper dead bird disposal and hygiene practices are recommended on poultry farms to prevent any possibility of the disease spreading to the state, Haynes said.

"If any cases of the disease are suspected, they should be reported to the proper authorities to reduce chances of an outbreak," Haynes said.

A leader among poultry-producing states, Mississippi ranks fifth in broiler production and 14th in egg production nationally. The agricultural income from poultry in 1983 was about $450 million.

As a commodity group, poultry agricultural income in Mississippi is exceeded only by agricultural income from cotton and soybeans.

Effect of drought on food prices analyzed

By Ann Rushing
Marketing Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

For most consumers far from the farm, the impact of the 1984 drought will be measured at the grocery store. In the process, the drought may get more blame than it deserves.

The drought's impact on food prices may come a bit later and may end up to be somewhat smaller than consumers might expect. Beyond that, it will be difficult - impossible from the check-out counter - to clearly separate the drought's impact from the many other factors that keep food prices rising each year, regardless of harvests.

Aside from relatively minor food items such as sweet corn, withered corn and soybean harvests will affect consumers almost exclusively through meats and poultry, especially beef. Higher feed costs and shrinking margins for producers will probably mean some reduction in meat supplies, and higher meat prices, in the last half of 1984 and into 1985.

In the meantime, producers have responded to reduced returns by sending more animals to slaughter last fall and winter. The result is increased meat supplies and very little upward pressure on retail price.

Before the drought hit, analysts had projected food prices to rise only 2 to 4 percent in 1983 and pointing to the lower end of the range. For consumers, that meant the smallest increase in 16 years.

Food prices in 1984 will probably rise at a faster rate, but not primarily because of the drought. In any given year, food prices respond to many factors including inflation, domestic and foreign demand and stocks on hand.

For an indication of the errors that can be made in assuming a direct link between crop size and food prices, consider the 1974 and 1980 droughts. Both droughts followed record crop years. In 1973, a record crop year, food prices rose 14.5 percent; in the drought year 1974, they rose 14.4 percent; and in 1975, the year when the farm price effects of the drought should have shown up at retail, food prices rose only 8.5 percent.

The pattern is similar for the 1980 drought. In 1979, a record year, food prices climbed 10.9 percent. In 1980, a drought year, they rose 8.6 percent; and in 1981, the year following the drought, they were up only 7.9 percent.

Of course, this doesn't mean that 1984's food price rise will be lower than last year's rise. All it indicates is that farm prices are only one component - and usually not the major one

- in the food price picture. General inflation in the economy and its effect on wages and other processing and marketing costs are far more important.

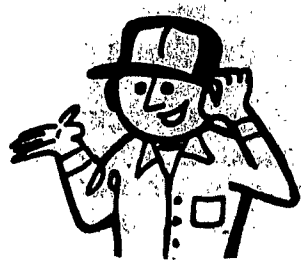

For this reason, food price rises are expected to be higher this year. Recovery in the economy suggests a somewhat higher inflation rate along with rising processing marketing costs. These costs make up about 70 percent of retail food prices.

Even this news isn't all bad. The inflation rate will remain relatively low, and food price rises are unlikely to exceed it. No one currently expects 1984 to bring a return to the annual food price increases of 8 to 11 percent experienced between 1979 to 1981.

THIS IS INSULTING—Desmond, we need to get out of here immediately, this cold cage at the Hancock County Animal Shelter on Gulfside Drive in Waveland is ruining my hair. Relax Duffy, I'll just give 'em this gold-eyed gaze of mine and they won't be able to resist—we'll be out here and have homes in no time. Well I hope so, Desmond, you know I've been sprayed already so no kitten problems. That's right Duffy and with my irresistible charm we'll go places. All those humans out there have to do now is just call the Bay-Waveland Humane Society volunteer for adoption information at 467-0230. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

House Of Representative
Post 122

I believe the people of our county and state are looking for new faces and ideas. That we need representation which is not tied to any special interests or groups, but is responsive to the needs of all our people. That our position at the bottom of nearly every socio-economic category is not deserved or necessary, but the result of powerful resistance to necessary change, reform and new ideas. We can continue to experience the problems and mistakes of our past or we can strive for change and a better future — the choice is ours.

I will provide all the citizens of our District 122 with energetic, honest and responsive representation. My roots, education, and active interest in the problems and progress of our County provide me with the ability to represent all the people of our County and to be responsive to their needs.

Citizen assistance enlisted to eradicate marijuana

Record numbers of homegrown marijuana plants were destroyed in Mississippi in 1983, but law officers maintain private citizens must play a greater role in future efforts to eradicate the illegal crop.

More than 60,000 marijuana plants valued at $58.9 million were located and destroyed in 1983 under the Marijuana Eradication Program established by Gov. William Winter in June.

The previous record, set in 1982, was 43,000 plants with an estimated street value of $31.3 million.

A report on the program said 966 separate plots were destroyed in 1983 compared to 68 plots the previous year.

There were 128 arrests in 1983 compared to 64 in 1982, the report said.

"Although we are pleased that the first year of the Domestic Marijuana Eradication Program was successful, we know Mississippi still has a long way to go before the program is developed as fully as it should be," said Sidney B. Berry, who was named by Winter to coordinate the program.

"Marijuana eradication is a key element in the total war against crime associated with illicit drugs in this state," Berry added.

"It is obvious that marijuana manufacturers are planting smaller crops in an effort to hide them," Berry said.

"This trend can be expected to continue in the coming years. That means private citizens must assist law enforcement officers in locating and reporting marijuana fields."

Berry, who has served as Mississippi's commissioner of public safety for the past four years, predicted the 1984 eradication program could be "significantly more effective" than the 1983 program provided law enforcement officials apply the lessons learned during the 1983 effort.

Berry, whose term in office ended January 10, recommended that the program be extended indefinitely both to rid the state of homegrown marijuana and to make the state unattractive to criminals from other states who would otherwise use Mississippi woodlands as marijuana gardens.

"Mississippi provides ideal soil and water conditions for marijuana growth," he said.

"We do not need to provide additional incentives for marijuana growers by having an uncoordinated effort to eradicate whatever is grown here."

BIG FELLA—Yukon King is the name of this large mixed-breed German shepherd dog which is available free to a good home with a fenced yard and is now housed at the Hancock County Animal Shelter on Gulfside Drive in Waveland. The male dog apparently is about 18 months old, gentle and a big baby. For adoption information telephone the Bay-Waveland Humane Society volunteer at 467-0230 before King is painlessly destroyed. Greenville to inherit World's Fair exhibit

The International Great River Road Association recently announced plans for a $1 million exhibit which is being constructed on the grounds of the Louisiana World Exposition in New Orleans.

Designed as a replica of a Mississippi River Steamboat, the exhibit will provide visitors to the fair with the sights and sounds of early days aboard a paddlewheeler.

The exhibit will be positioned in the water course inside the Louisiana Exhibition Hall. It will house displays from the 10 states and two Canadian provinces that comprise the Great River Road and will be open throughout the fair from May 12 through Nov. 11.

Consisting of three basic areas, the exhibit will contain an outside deck where performers from each of the participating states and provinces will attract and entertain visitors.

Colorful flags representing the International Great River Road members will enhance the area.

Visitors will board the exhibit via an inclined ramp. Once inside the lobby, visitors will be surrounded by scenic displays featuring each of the participating members of the Great River Road.

Promotional literature will be available here, and uniformed guides will answer questions regarding vacation opportunities along the Great River Road.

From the lobby, visitors will move into a 50x30-foot theater which will accommodate 130 to 140 persons.

There they will view a documentary film on the Mississippi River currently in production by the Freshwater Society, an international organization based in Navarre, MN.

The film is being shot in all 10 states and two provinces of the Mississippi River basin and will reflect the fair's theme: "The World of Rivers—Fresh Water as a Source of Life."

Production of the film is being handled by Russell-Manning Productions of Minneapolis, MN.

"We anticipate that the Great River Road exhibit will be one of the most popular exhibits at the Louisiana World Exposition," said Judy Stough, Director of the Great River Road Division of the Arkansas Department of Parks and Tourism and Chairman of the Great River Road Association's World's Fair Committee.

"Entertainment was traditionally a role played by the riverboats that traveled the Mississippi River during the age of steam. The Great River Road exhibit will recreate this era and bring a wide range of theatrical and musical performers to the showcase provided on its deck," Stough said.

"Both the lobby and theater of the exhibit will expand this role by providing vacation information relating to the 10 states and two provinces which comprise the Great River Road, as well as presenting a documentary film on the river and the lands it drains. The film will be shown three times an hour, 36 times a day," she added.

Funding for the construction of the exhibit has been made possible by the State of Mississippi with matching funds provided by the city of Greenville, MS.

Following the fair, the exhibit will become a permanent tourist information center located on the Great River Road at Greenville.

Funds for space rental, utilities, exhibitry, and staffing are being provided by the participating Great River Road states and provinces—Arkansas, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Manitoba, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Ontario, Tennessee and Wisconsin.

For additional information, contact Judy Stough, director, Great River Road Division, One Capitol Mall, Little Rock.

Point of Law

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your legal rights.)

Q: Can landlords raise the rent whenever they want to?

A: In a month-to-month tenancy, stability in the amount of rent may exist only on a monthly basis.

In a year's lease, the landlord cannot raise the rent during the term of the lease. If the landlord wants to raise the rent during the lease period, he or she must give the tenant something in return, i.e., a new contract.

Q: Are landlords entitled to receive their rent under all circumstances?

A: In states that recognize the warranty of habitability, tenants can purposely fail to pay all or portion of the rent due because of the landlord's failure to keep the place livable.

This is called "rent abatement." If the tenant withholds rent, he or she must be prepared:

- 1) to defend the amount withheld in court if the landlord sues the tenant for eviction;
 - 2) to prove that the defect in question was a serious one; and
 - 3) to verify that the landlord was given notice that something was wrong and had the opportunity to fix it.
- Failure to pay the rent without a reason is the quickest way to be evicted.

County Agent's Notes By Lee Taylor

REPLENISH WOOD

The 1983 December was the coldest in 20 years for most Hancock Countians and January promises to be colder. Those of you with fireplaces or woodburning stoves may need to replenish your supply of firewood.

Although this seems simple, you should be especially careful handling a chain saw and other woodcutting equipment.

Chain saws are the most common power tool for cutting firewood, and have a high potential for causing severe injury. They require more care and caution in their use than other tools.

Even brief contact with a running saw can do great injury to a hand, arm or leg.

All woodsmen should use personal protective equipment, especially a hard hat, safety shoes, eye protection and a good pair of gloves. When operating noisy equipment, ear plugs can protect hearing.

Though misuse of tools is the most common cause of woodlot injury, minor injuries can also be painful.

Strained backs, bruises and twisted ankles can all be direct results of lifting, loading and stacking wood.

Avoid the discomfort of injuries caused by replenishing the woodpile and enjoy a warm winter by the fire pain-free.

MILK DIVERSION

Jan. 31 is the deadline for dairy producers in Hancock County to submit a plan to the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office to participate in the milk paid diversion program.

The plan must include an estimate of the portion of the reduction to be achieved through increased slaughter of dairy cows, including the number of dairy cows to be sold for slaughter during each month of the contract.

Producers must establish a milk base that will be based on the producers 1982 marketings of milk for commercial use or the average of marketings for calendar years 1981 and 1982, whichever the producer chooses.

To be eligible participants must have been actively engaged in milk production on November 29, 1983, and have an established milk base.

The producer also must have provided milk reduction plan and offered to enter into a USDA milk diversion contract by January 31, 1984.

SEED FOR 1984

Because of the drought this summer, there will probably be some seed shortages in certain varieties of soybeans for the 1984 planting season.

Farmers in Hancock County should begin early to make arrangements for seed of the specific varieties they will need next season. It is extremely important to plant the best varieties where there are problems like stem canker or cyst nematodes.

Contact the Extension office for more information on varieties that are less susceptible to these problems.

Bay resident to serve SCORE in Washington

Paul White, a Bay St. Louis resident, was selected by the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) to serve in Washington, D.C. as the director of international trade.

SCORE, which is sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration, made the announcement at the November meeting of the Board of Directors. The six month assignment will begin Feb. 1.

A current member of the Gulf Coast SCORE Chapter, White is a former vice president and trust officer of the Gulf National Bank.

After retiring from banking, he and his wife, Katherine, served in the Peace Corps in Honduras and Nicaragua from 1978 to 1980.

While on their Central American assignment, the Whites worked in 63 agricultural cooperatives, establishing a cottage industry among the women.

The operation, which continues to flourish today, serves as a model of Peace Corps "self help" initiative for third world countries.

Prior to employment with Gulf National, White was director of sales, Zimmer Corporation Division of Bristol-Myers; sales director of Coca Cola in Argentina; manager of Montevideo office of Sterling Drugs in Uruguay; and general manager in Columbia, Ecuador and Peru for American Home Products.

White is the co-founder of Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi; past president of the Gulfport Area Chamber of Commerce; past president of the Mississippi Board of Library Trustees; and co-chairman of the Hurricane Fifi (Honduras) Relief Committee.

In addition, he organized international trade fairs for the Port of Gulfport.

Memberships include Regional Export Council, Department of Commerce; Export Managers Clubs of New York City, St. Louis and New Orleans; International House, New Orleans.

SCORE is an organization of professionals who volunteer their time to counsel small business owners and aspiring entrepreneurs. The service is free.

STATE CAPITOL PORTRAIT—Governor William Winter's commissioned portrait has been presented to the state in unveiling ceremonies held at the state capitol. Following the ceremony the portrait was placed on display in the Hall of Governors where it will remain. It has been hanging in the Governor's Mansion since September, when Marshall Bouldin II of Clarksdale completed it. Bouldin began work on the portrait last January, photographing and filming the governor, preparing sketches and researching the background of the portrait. The state's first lady stands in the background, along with Herman Glazier, chief administrative assistant to the governor, and Jason Bouldin, the artist's son. Governor Winter's portrait is the third Mississippi governor's portrait Bouldin has completed. Previously, Bouldin painted Governor John Bell Williams in 1971 and Governor Dennis Murphree in the early 60s. Other notables who have posed for Bouldin are U.S. Senator John Stennis, Julie and Tricia Nixon, U.S. Senator Sam Irvin, House of Representatives Speaker Walter Sillers, former House Speaker John Junkin and former Secretary of State Heber Linder.

PRICES AND OFFERS IN THIS AD ARE GOOD THRU TUESDAY, JANUARY 24 AT JITNEY JUNGLE IN BAY ST. LOUIS MARKET SHOPPING CENTER HWY 90 AT DUNBAR AVENUE OPEN 24 HOURS A DAY, 7 DAYS A WEEK

You depend on Jitney Jungle for LOW Price Slicer prices every day...

NOW SAVE EVEN MORE

DOUBLE COUPON SAVINGS

on MANUFACTURERS' COUPONS! Now at Jitney Jungle... Every manufacturer's cents-off coupon is worth TWICE as much!

Here's how it works:

Suppose you buy an item which is priced at 49¢ and you have a manufacturers' "Cents-Off" coupon worth 10¢ toward the purchase of that same item. Then:

Regular Price.....	49¢
Less the face value of your coupon.....	10¢
Less the "DOUBLE COUPON" value at Jitney.....	10¢
You pay only.....	29¢

We will redeem all manufacturer's "Cents Off" coupons for DOUBLE their face value this week. Limit 1 coupon for any particular item. Limit 1 coffee and cigarette coupon. Offer limited to manufacturers' coupons of 50¢ value or less. Coupons over 50¢ will be redeemed at face value. You must purchase products in sizes specified on the coupon. This offer applies only to manufacturers' "Cents Off" coupons for items we carry and not to "Free" coupons or Jitney or Retail Food Store coupons. Amount refunded cannot exceed the cost of the item.

Clip manufacturer's coupons from your mail, magazines, and newspapers...then bring them to Jitney Jungle for DOUBLE COUPON SAVINGS!

SAVE EVEN MORE at JITNEY in BAY ST. LOUIS this week!

MRS. KENT ALLEN BATMAN
(Photo by Luther Ladner)

Christ Episcopal Church in Bay St. Louis was the setting December 30 for the marriage of Elizabeth Ann Santa Cruz of Bay St. Louis and Kent Allen Batman of Woodbury, Minnesota. Officiating at the ceremony was the Reverend Charles B. Johnson.

Acolyte for the candlelight ceremony was Miss Page S. Murphy of Waveland.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Ben Hille Jr., who accompanied vocalist Julieen Kay Batman, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar W. Santa Cruz Jr. of Bay St. Louis. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Larry A. Batman of Woodbury, Minnesota. The altar was adorned with silver tree candelabra decorated with white Fuji mums, chrysanthemums, carnations and greenery. Lighted candelabra lined the aisle.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a contemporary formal gown of matte taffeta in pale ivory with a silhouette dropped waistline, princess sleeves edged with lace, ruffle above deep fitted cuff of schiffli lace. The bodice was adorned with pearly venise lace appliques and featured a sheer yoke of schiffli embroidered English net. The full gathered skirt was bordered with scalloped venise lace and had a chapel train. Her bridal wreath of silk roses and schiffli lace had an illusion pouf at the back secured with tiny satin ribbons and chapel length streamers of illusion. Her only jewelry was a set of pearl earrings, a gift from her grandmother. She carried a free form cascade of white roses, stephanotis, rubrum lilies, springer fern and other natural foliage.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Jana Lee Williamson of Jackson, Ms.

Bridesmaids were Maury Pringle McCurdy of Bay St. Louis, Shelly V. Stewart of Pass Christian, Laura Laine Bell Mead of Baton Rouge, La., Cheryl Lee Jones of Bay St. Louis and Julieen Kay Batman of Woodbury, Minn., sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants were attired in burgundy velvet: tea length gowns each with round, scooped neckline, puffed sleeves, diagonally cut dropped waistline accented with a self-bow. Matching accessories completed their ensembles. They carried free style bouquets of rubrum lilies, pink roses, pink mini-carnations, stephanotis and natural foliage.

Jenna Lee Harkin was the flower girl and Steven Michael Reed was the ring bearer, both of Minneapolis and cousins of the bridegroom.

Serving as best man was Kyle A. Batman of Woodbury, brother of the bridegroom.

Groomsmen were Joel A. Coppage of Lafayette, Ga., Darryl J. Breland of Gulfport, Mark A. Gentry of Marietta, Ga., Edgar W. Santa Cruz III and John R. Santa Cruz, both of Bay St. Louis and brothers of the bride.

Ushers were Joseph R. Clarke III of Forest, Ms., Edie D. Wolverton of Meridian, Ms., and Terry A. Pinson of Hattiesburg, Ms.

The bride's parents were hosts at a reception at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club immediately following the ceremony.

Following a wedding trip to Mexico, the newlyweds will reside in Eden Prairie, Minn.

Pre-Nuptial Parties
Prior to their wedding, the bride-elect and her fiancé were entertained with a series of parties.

On Saturday, November 26 an afternoon Tea Dance was given by Messrs. and Mmes. John E. Bell III and Davis R. Mead in honor of the bride and bridegroom at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

The bride was entertained with a Christmas Ornament Shower given in her honor by Mmes. Van Ness Tanner, Phillip G. Tanner and Miss Laurent Tanner at the North Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Ness Tanner on December 3.

Mrs. Rosalie Kergosien hosted a linen shower at her home on December 11 in honor of the bride.

A miscellaneous shower was given for the bride by Miss Jana L. Williamson on December 16 at her Hattiesburg apartment.

An Around the Clock shower honoring the bride was co-hosted by Mmes. Margaret B. Hadden and Henry G. Chapman at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell on December 20.

The bridesmaids were guests of honor at a luncheon at the Landmark Restaurant on December 23 given by Mmes. Mitchell L. Jones and John R. Rosetti.

The bride, bridegroom and their guests were entertained at a Cajun Holiday Party on December 28 hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Leo W. Seal Jr. and Miss Maury P. McCurdy at their residence in Bay St. Louis.

On December 29 Mr. and Mrs. Larry A. Batman, parents of the bridegroom entertained the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner at the Landmark Restaurant in Bay St. Louis.

On the eve of the wedding, the bridegroom and his close friends were entertained with a bachelor party at the residence of Mr. Lucien M. Gex III.

Lipscomb, Moran to wed February 4

Mr. and Mrs. George Harris Lipscomb Jr. of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Annabelle Lipscomb, to Bernard E. Moran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Earl Moran of Bay St. Louis.

The bride-elect is a 1983 graduate of Bay Senior High School, where she was a member of the National Honor Society and was listed in Who's Who in American High Schools. She is employed with Hancock Bank, Highway 90.

Flowers of Belgium and France viewed by Bay gardeners

The Bay-Waveland Garden Club met Jan. 10 at the Garden Center, with Mrs. James Evans presiding. She read letters from CARE thanking the club for its contribution to the Third World countries, and from Highway Commissioner Bob Joiner regarding beautification of Mississippi's Highways in preparation for the World's Fair in New Orleans.

She announced that memorial donations were being made to the Garden Club Memorial Fund in memory of two former members who had recently passed away, Mrs. Joseph Scharff, a past president, and Mrs. Hilda Sallinger, an honorary member.

Arbor Day activities will be held Feb. 10 at 10 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis Junior High School, according to Mrs. E. G. Baud, Arbor Day chairman.

decorations contest were: Bay St. Louis, residential, first place; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Marengo, second place; Mrs. Catherine Jordy, commercial, Seymour's Jewelry Store.

Waveland, residential, first place; Mr. and Mrs. Felton Cuevas, second place; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herndon, commercial, The Golden Parrot.

The chairman of Civic Development and Commercial Beautification, Mrs. Kenneth McKenna, said the award for January had been given to the Main Street Shell Station in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. John Holmes, chairman of Energy Awareness and Conservation, reminded members of an energy workshop held at the Garden Center Thursday, Jan. 19. Mrs. Holmes is also in charge of the Intermediate Gardeners' and said that the following girls had received Certificates of Appreciation for their help at the Camellia Show last November: Katie Cuevas, Bahiyah Schwabacher, Karen Ladner and Lauri Gagnon of Bay St. Louis; Melinda Miller and Allison Miller of Waveland and Shannon York of Kiln.

Mrs. Ray Augrain, Garden Therapy chairman, read a letter of thanks from the Mississippi Retardation Center for the gifts the Garden Club members had sent for Christmas.

Mrs. J. R. Shadoin, chairman for the Bay St. Louis Library arrangements, said Mrs. Boyce Walker had made arrangement for January. Mrs. Tommy Tompkins gave the horticulture tip for the day with an interesting short talk on oak trees.

The program was presented by Mrs. Rene de Montlun and was a slide presentation

Bourgeois, Humphrey exchange vows

Jimmie Kay Humphrey and Charles Raymond Bourgeois were married December 3 in a 5 p.m. ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall chapel. Sam J. Pernicaro performed the double ring candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Ada Adell Woodard of Nashville, Tenn. and the late James Esley Woodard. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Bourgeois of Waveland.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Clarence Manuel Jr., the bride wore a formal gown of white chiffon with fitted bodice adorned with venise lace appliques, lace edged capelet collar which gracefully draped at the back to below the waist. The full circular skirt was bordered with venise lace.

She wore a wreath of white silk flowers with ribbon streamers and carried a nosegay of white silk roses with tiny pink sweetheart rosebuds, stephanotis, baby's breath and ribbon.

Linda Manuel of Gulfport attended her sister as matron of honor.

Dawn Perkins of Waveland, niece of the groom, was junior bridesmaid.

Best man was Lewis Bourgeois of Waveland, brother of the groom.

Joseph Humphrey of Waveland, son of the bride, was junior groomsman.

Courtney Bourgeois, niece of the groom, was flower girl and Ryan Bourgeois of Bay St. Louis, son of the groom, and Randy Humphrey of Waveland, son of the bride, were ring bearers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Decorations included a brass bridal arch adorned with greenery and brass candelabra, pink and white streamers, bells and doves.

Assisting at the reception were Sue Bourgeois and Diane Perkins of Waveland and Janet Crowther of Meraux, La.

On return from a wedding trip to Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla., the couple will reside in Waveland.

Nugon home, 533 East Scenic Dr., Pass Christian, will be the site of the St. Monica Guild's 1984 Valentine Tea

Valentine's Day around the world traditions told

By Joe Pilet, publicist
St. Monica Guild of Trinity

In this rapidly changing world it is comforting to know there are a few old customs that haven't changed. That is, they haven't changed much.

Celebrating Valentine's Day is one such custom. Although Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, comes on the feast day of two Christian saints, the custom has nothing to do with the lives of these saints! Celebrating Valentine's Day probably originated in Rome prior to Christianity, and today it is celebrated in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, Italy and Denmark as a sort of romantic occasion. It is known as the time to greet family members, good friends, and lovers with a special sentiment.

In Denmark, pressed snowdrop flowers are sent to special persons. In Great Britain children sing songs and receive gifts of money, fruit or candy. In the United States Valentine cards or heart shaped boxes filled with candy are given. At least in one place in the United States—in the little city of Pass Christian—the celebration of a Valentine Silver Tea has been an annual event for almost 40 years. The tea is sponsored by the St. Monica Guild of Trinity Church and donations from the tea are used for community and church related projects.

Although it has grown larger during the years, the St. Monica sponsored tea really hasn't changed essentially. There is still the excitement of planning, and that begins a full month in advance of the event.

To begin with, the hostess and her home must be selected. The home must be large enough to accommodate the guests and there must be an easy flow through the various reception rooms. There must be flowers and tastefully arranged decorations to enhance the beauty of the furnishings—and parking must be considered. Invitations, tea services, refreshments and beverages must be decided upon. Many, many details to be distilled into two hours of entertainment.

Each member of the guild becomes weather conscious. Some offer prayers for fair weather. Some attempt to bribe the weather forecaster! Whatever the charm, it works. Tea dates of yesteryears have been fair and spring-like.

The tea this year falls on Friday, Feb. 10, which is just four days before the authentic Valentine's Day, will be given at 533 East Scenic Dr. in Pass Christian. The date was selected to include out of town guests and weekend residents who regularly attend the event which is considered by some as the beginning of a social season which is followed closely by Mardi Gras.

It is amusing to recall some of the quaint customs of Valentine's Day in other lands. In Great Britain young men and women draw names from a box and enjoy each other's company at a festival. One of the strange English customs records young ladies who write the names of several boys on scraps of paper and roll the scraps into clay balls. The clay balls are dropped in a basin of water, and the first name to float to the surface is considered that of the girl's "true love."

Customs that are pleasant are long-lived. About four decades ago Mrs. H.R. Kilpatrick of "Pink Cottage" fame gave the original Valentine Silver Tea. It was given in memory of her mother, Mrs. Lella Abby French of Natchez and Pass Christian. Proceeds from the tea were given through the St. Monica Guild for church and community related projects. For a number of years the tea was given in the Pink Cottage where the hostess, dressed in a becoming shade of pink, welcomed all comers to the pink interior where even bed linens and curtains were pink! Tea, of course, was served in pink cups and the sounds of songs floated in through pink draped windows as members of the various Negro churches gathered beneath the magnolia trees to sing Stephen Foster selections.

When the Pink Cottage could no longer accommodate the ever increasing number of guests, several lovely old Beach front homes were opened, as well as the stately old Trinity Rectory which went down during Hurricane Camille. Among some of the outstanding homes and hostesses were the Villa Karma, home of Mrs. John Frith; the Beach home of Mrs. Stanford Morse; Ossian Hall, home of the late R.C. Hammetts; the home of Mrs. Guy C. Billups Jr.; the Robert Ewing Brown home, and the estate of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Monroe on East Scenic Drive.

In this changing world very few customs regarding the Valentine Tea have changed, however, the tea is no longer a ladies only event... men are welcome to come. And come they do. They appreciate the grounds, the rooms, the furnishings and they also like to sip an especially deliciously flavored spiced tea. An invitation is extended to all ladies and gentlemen of the Gulf coast community together with their guests.

"This year we are especially happy about parking arrangements; there is a wide expanse of neutral ground facing East Scenic Drive and directly in front of the Nugon's estate. Parking there will be most safe and easy," according to Mrs. Richard Hadden, who serves as president of the guild.

Growing Child

SIBLING DISPUTES

Who says parents must be referees in their children's fights?

Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter, suggests encouraging your children to settle their own differences and disputes when they can. You should resist becoming a referee in their fights and squabbles, especially when they ask you to assess blame, settle the argument, and punish one of them.

You can help them learn how to do this by instituting "thinking chairs" or "talk-it-over chairs" in your home. Whenever an argument erupts, the participants have to go to their chairs and either think it over or talk it over until the situation calms down.

In any dispute, both people contribute in some way, and they both need to compromise in order to resolve the situation.

Once they've begun to learn how to do this with your help, encourage them to begin doing it on their own: "Dana, I'm sorry Doug hurt your feelings. Why don't you try to find out why he got so mad and try to let him know how you feel?"

Be sure to praise and compliment them when they resolve conflicts in this and other constructive ways.

Don't force your children to "make-up" and lie about their feelings following a dispute.

For example, don't direct a child to "Go tell Baby you love him," or "Go say you're sorry."

Probably, she doesn't feel either loving or sorry at the moment and she'll feel even less so after you make her say she does when she doesn't.

She'll feel misunderstood by you and angry and resentful of her sibling, even if she did something to him she doesn't feel good about.

When you take sides in a dispute between your children and you force them to mend their fences before they're ready to do so, you increase the chances of further hostility between them later, particularly when you're not near.

Once each child has had her "day in court" and feels someone understands her viewpoint, she's much more likely to apologize or make-up on her own.

And each time a dispute is settled by bringing out honest feelings on both sides, the hostility is lessened, thus decreasing the chances of similar disputes in the future. The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month-by-month.

For more information and a free sample newsletter, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Indiana 47902. Include child's birthdate when writing.

Ethics code discussed by legal secretaries

Joseph R. Meadows, partner in the Gulfport law firm of Graves, Riley & Meadows, was guest speaker for the January meeting of Harrison-Hancock Counties Legal Secretaries Association. His topic was 'Ethics and the Lawyer's Responsibility.'

Mr. Meadows discussed the Canons of Ethics, which are:

(1) A lawyer should assist in maintaining the integrity and competence of the legal profession.

(2) A lawyer should assist the legal profession in fulfilling its duty to make legal counsel available.

(3) A lawyer should assist in preventing the unauthorized practice of law.

(4) A lawyer should preserve the confidences and secrets of a client.

(5) A lawyer should exercise independent professional judgment on behalf of a client.

(6) A lawyer should represent a client competently.

(7) A lawyer should represent a client zealously within the bounds of the law.

(8) A lawyer should assist in improving the legal system.

(9) A lawyer should avoid even the appearance of professional impropriety.

Betty Lou Clark presented a legal education quiz on proper citation of legal authorities.

Patsy Bishop reported a silver tray was presented on behalf of the chapter to Marilyn Knight, PLS, in appreciation for her contributions.

Sarah Holley and Joan M. Jordy, both employed by Blackwell & White; Deborah Butler, employed by Owen & Galloway, and Myra Kimbrough, employed at the Navy Base, were guests for the meeting.

Harrison County Sheriff Larkin Smith will be guest speaker for the Feb. 9 meeting, 6:30 p.m., at the Western Sizzlin' Steak House, Courthouse Road, Gulfport. Reservations for the dinner meeting may be made through Elizabeth Mallini, 374-8383.

Bay VFW to honor Vietnam Veterans

Theodore Price Post No. 3253, Veterans of Foreign Wars Friday will stage a Vietnam Veterans Recognition Day.

Flag raising memorial services will begin at 4 p.m. in front of the VFW Post Home on Third Street in Bay St. Louis.

All members of the American Legion, D.A.V. and V.F.W. are invited to participate.

A special invitation has been extended to all Vietnam veterans.

Following the services refreshments will be served in the post home.

Holy Land tour reviewed at St. Monica Guild meet

By Joe Pilet
Recording Secretary
St. Monica Guild
Women of Trinity

"The Hights and Lows of Our Tour of the Holy Land" was the topic of a program given jointly by Mrs. Durrie B. Hardin and Mrs. John Dugan, both of Pass Christian, to members of the St. Monica Guild Women of Trinity when the group met on Monday in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Newton on Nelson Lane.

The tour of 12 days took the visitors to many historic places of biblical interest including Jericho, Jerusalem, Palestine, the Dead Sea, Jordan River, and other locations familiar to Christians and students of archaeology.

Of Jericho, Mrs. Hardin said, "This is the oldest known civilization in the world. Archaeologists have uncovered some 28 civilizations and there may be others yet to be excavated."

A bible story tells that the Israelites under Joshua marched around the city for seven days shouting and blowing their trumpets so that the walls fell down.

Mrs. Hardin said guides of the tour said the walls were made of materials that easily deteriorated and the walls simply went through a crumbling process.

Palestine's history goes back at least 5,000 years and is famous because Judaism and Christianity were born there.

Islam religion is also a leading belief in Palestine. Mrs. Hardin said about 75 percent of today's Jews in that area do not practice their religion. No explanation was given for the decline.

The tour group traveled by bus. Roads and highways were reportedly very good.

We have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ

Mrs. Walter Martin, program chairman, in introducing the ladies said Mmes. Hardin and Dugan were included in a tour group of about 26 persons who visited the Holy Land in October of 1983.

Senior Citizens Happenings

By EVE McDONALD
Mini-Classes

We are planning to organize a class on Monday afternoons that will do various crafts and will last four to six weeks. The first class is scheduled to begin Jan. 30 at 1 p.m.

The plan is to start with beginning crochet. Three volunteers from the Cooperative Extension Homemakers Clubs will help the participants of the class learn stitches and make a pair of slippers.

The next class will be knitting. Other things we have in mind are candlewicking, chicken scratch, and stenciling.

Let us know if you are interested or have any suggestions for a class.

Mardi Gras Party
We will combine our regular birthday/games party with the Mardi Gras theme and it is scheduled for Feb. 27. You will be hearing more about those plans.

World's Fair Update
Don't forget to make your reservations for the bus trip to New Orleans World's Fair. Get a group together and have a good time while we have a fair so close. You'll want to see it, even if it will only be to know what everyone is complaining about or extolling!

Women Realtors install Johnson

Gulf Coast Chapter, Women's Council of Realtors installed officers at a Tuesday meeting at Angelo's in Gulfport.

The installation was performed by the State WCR Governor Ellen Johnson.

Taking the oath of office were Carlene Alfonso, president; Annette Breshears, vice president; Connie Kate, secretary; and Kathryn Page, treasurer.

New members inducted and sworn in by State WCR

You can get applications at the Center or at our office or from RSVF. The fare is $30 for the round trip bus fare and entrance fee to the fair. You are on your own after that and can spend all you want.

Outgoing president Joyce B. Bowers presented the President's Award to Jay Breshears and Smokie B. Martin for their help during the past year.

For reservations and information on the group's February meeting call Bowers, 467-4449; Alfonso, 864-6000.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

By Shawn Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

The key word-thought today is 'imperfection.' The Apostle Paul indicts us all in his letter to the Christians in Rome when he states, "For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God." (Romans 3:23)

According to the Apostle even the best of men fall short of the perfection characterized by God. Gray once stated, "If the best man's faults were written on his forehead, he would draw his hat over his eyes."

And yet the glorious part of Romans 3:24 is the second half which states, "and are justified freely by his grace through the redemption that came by Christ Jesus." And so there is no room for any of us to boast of our goodness. For, "there is no one righteous, not even one... no one does good, not even one." (Romans 3:10-12)

The logical conclusion is that if He who is perfect can forgive us who are imperfect, then why can't we who are all imperfect, not live harmoniously with one another? Addison wrote, "What an absurd thing it is to pass over all the valuable parts of a man, and fix our attention on his afflictivities."

Fenelon added, "It is only imperfection that complains of what is imperfect. The more perfect we are, the more gentle and quiet we become toward the defects of others."

One anonymous writer even suggested that the process of overcoming faults can be an advantage. "It is not so much being free from faults and imperfections as overcoming them that is an advantage to us; it being with follies and weaknesses and errors, as with the weeds of the field, which, if destroyed on the soil where they grow, enrich and improve it, more than if they had never sprung up there."

So what do you say, why don't we begin today by "cutting each other some slack?" Who not concentrate on our own faults rather than those imperfections of those around us? As Jesus said, "Why do you look at the speck of sawdust in your brother's eye and pay no attention to the telephone pole in your own eye... You hypocrite, first take the telephone pole out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck from your brother's eye." (Matthew 7:3-5 - Murphy's paraphrase)

Let's make planet Earth a better place to live by realizing that we "all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God and are justified freely by His grace through the redemption that came by Christ Jesus." (Romans 3:23, 24).

Catholic Church Parish News

By Fr. B.C. Keller
"Come after me." To whom does Jesus address these words—to all of us or just a select few? Of course, we are all called to proclaim the good news. Each one of us is an extension of Christ in time and space.

Religious instructions today after the 9 a.m. Mass are for our students in grades 6, 7, and 8. Weekday instructions are at 3 p.m.: on Monday for grades 1 and 2; Tuesday, grades 3 and 4; and Wednesday for grade 5. Confirmation class is on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

Our Gospel Choir will practice on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.; our Little People Choir on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. The Concerned Citizens Organization of Hancock County will meet in our cafeteria on Thursday at 7 p.m. Annual elections will take place and annual dues will be payable. Public is invited.

Mass Schedule
Sunday, 7 and 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Daily, Monday through Saturday at 6:30 a.m. Saturday (Vigil) 6 p.m. Mother of Perpetual Help Novena at beginning of Tuesday Mass.

Diet soft drinks may contain nutrasweet and saccharin

Claims by consumer activist group that diet soft drink manufacturers are misleading the public by continuing to include saccharin in products advertised as containing Nutrasweet are unfounded, according to one expert.

Dr. Charles Shannon, food technologist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said the manufacturers are not necessarily trying to mislead anyone, and that product labels still indicate the diet drinks contain saccharin.

"Manufacturers continue to use saccharin for two reasons. The two sweeteners, Nutrasweet and saccharin, have a synergistic effect when used together. You get more sweetening from an ounce of both than you would from two ounces of either. The ingredients tend to magnify each other."

"The second reason is that Nutrasweet costs about 25 times as much as saccharin," Shannon said.

"The reason manufacturers make a point of mentioning the fact that their products now contain Nutrasweet is that, to many people, those products taste much better than products sweetened entirely with saccharin."

"The labels have been changed, in some instances, to emphasize the Nutrasweet content since some consumers are looking for that. There have been no label changes to hide or mislead anyone from the fact that the products still contain saccharin. The saccharin content is as clearly mentioned on the label as it ever was," Shannon said.
